Swiss Frs. 100.--
"This work has been thought to contain a description of the circulation of the blood within the lung. It occurs the following passage which has been interpreted as an anticipation of Harvey: 'Dextrum, qui san-guineus appellatur, vena cava ingreditur et vena arteriosa egreditur, quae in pulmonem dispergitur sanguinem e laboratum conferens...sinistro ...arteria venosa, quae ex pulmone aerem cordi defert, fulginosaque ipsius recrementa educit, inseritur...inde prodit magna arteria omnium aliarum origo'". - Nice copy of this interesting work. R A R E.
14. V e s a l i u s, A. De humani corporis fabrica libri septem. 6 leaves, 792(824) pp., 23 leaves. With beautiful frontispiece, about 20 full-page cuts, very numerous large and small woodcut figures in the text and the author's portrait; many fine initial letters. Folio. Old half calf. Basel, J. Oporinus, 1555.
Swiss Frs. 340.-- Choulant-Frank, pp. 181 - 182. - "The second edition of the principal work(1555) prepared for publication by Vesalius himself, slightly elaborated in the text and provided with a few smaller woodcuts. The impressions of the woodcuts is often clearer and more beautiful than in the first edition(1543). This second edition therefore has especially for practical purposes advantages over the first on account of additions in the text and in the illustrations and particularly on account of its more splendid makeup" (Ch.-Frk.).
Complete copies of that standard work are priced from 1.250.- to 1.500.
Swiss Frs. Our copy wants 32 pp. and the last blank leaf showing only the printer's device. Frontispiece and portrait in very good facsimile.
Except that our copy is in unusually fine condition and the magnificent woodcuts in excellent impressions.
